

The soundtrack of the movie was composed by Alka Yagnik and lyrics are penned by Kausar Munir and Manasi. The film, based on the 2001 Bengali novel by Arunindranath Tagore, Aamra and also Aamra, is a spin-off of the Chokher Bali. Plot An incomplete story of Aarong (Aishwarya Rai Bachchan) and Abir (Vikram Gokhale), whose families got separated when they were young. Aarong now lives in Kolkata with her husband, while Abir lives in Goa with his wife. Both of them were childhood sweethearts. Fifteen years later, Abir (with his new wife) tries to reunite with Aarong. At the same time, Aarong's (with her husband) mother-in-law tries to get Aarong back to Kolkata. Two of the protagonists get married and have a daughter. Abir meets an old friend from childhood who tells him that his daughter is the same age as his wife's daughter. The friend asks Abir to arrange a meeting between the two girls. After some dramatic twists and turns, they eventually meet. They get to know each other and become friends. Abir then makes a surprise visit to Aarong's family home. Abir gives a flower bouquet and Aarong gives him sweets and the other letters they had exchanged. This is in Goa. Aarong then gives her cell phone to Abir, who calls his friend in Kolkata and tells him he has a girlfriend. Cast Aishwarya Rai Bachchan as Aarong Vikram Gokhale as Abir Tarun Bose as Abir's father Tulsi Chakraborty as Abir's mother Anindya Chatterjee as Aarong's father Chitra Sen as Aarong's mother-in-law Joydeep Mukherjee as Aarong's husband Music Alka Yagnik composed the music for this movie, while Manas Mukherjee wrote the lyrics. The soundtrack album was released in 2006. Awards References External links Category:2006 films Category:Bengali-language films Category:Indian films Category:Films scored by Alka Yagnik
