I've seen some stuff like: for index in [1:]: print("The id of the person at index {} is {}".format(index, someobject.getObject(index).id)) I know the double colon does something like for "a" in "b", but I don't understand what it does. Can someone explain? A: The syntax [1:len(array)] means the index range from the 1st element to the last (len is the length function). 1:len(array) = [1:len(array)] Q: Proving the inverse of a monotone function is monotone Let $f: \mathbb{R} \rightarrow \mathbb{R}$ be a monotone function. I need to show that f^{-1} is monotone too. My attempt: By the fact that f is monotone, $f: \mathbb{R} \rightarrow \mathbb{R}$ is a monotone function on the interval $S[0, \infty)$. In other words, $f(x) \leq f(y)$ for every $x, y \in [0, \infty)$ with $x \leq y$. It follows that $f(x) \geq f(y)$ for every $x, y \in [0, \infty)$ with $x \leq y$. Hence, $f^{-1}: [0, \infty) \rightarrow \mathbb{R}$ is monotone because f is monotone and $f: \mathbb{R} \rightarrow \mathbb{R}$ is monotone as well. Is there a

Alas, the Internet shall not speak for me. The Bar gives the gamer the ability to control the Skype messenger and the webcam using an intuitive user interface. The user can communicate with their contacts, toggle the webcam on and off and to take a screen-shot. All this in a context-sensitive pane that will drop down from the left corner of the screen. Version 1.0 added a single text entry field where the user can type their name or their IM/VOIP alias. A timestamp is added to the line. All incoming messages are stored in a text file that is saved to the temporary directory. With Version 1.5 the text entry field is replaced by a list box and the text file is renamed to be *.log. The users name is added to the first line in the file. The list box is adjusted to match the width of the text file and each line in the list box is set to be bold. The outgoing messages are stored in a separate text file which is saved to a user-defined location. The timestamp and users name are also added to the file so that the user can use a FTP or Windows File Share to send the file to their desktop. In Version 1.6 the list box is replaced with a rich text box where the user can type their message. The text file is still called *.log and the timestamp and users name are still added to the file. In Version 1.9 the list box is replaced with a rich text box where the user can type their message. The text file is still called *.log and the timestamp and users name are still added to the file. In Version 1.10 the text field is replaced with a rich text box and the list box is replaced with a combobox where the user can select a user from the contacts. The user can still type a message in the list box. The text file is still called *.log and the timestamp and users name are still added to the file// (C) Copyright John Maddock 2001 - 2002. // (C) Copyright Jens Maurer 2001 - 2002. // (C) Copyright David Abrahams 2002. // (C) Copyright Toon Knapen 2003. // (C) Copyright Boris Gubenko 2006 - 2007. // Use, modification and distribution are subject to the // Boost Software License, Version 1.0.
