Couple with kidneys missing in India found safe Aug. 10, 2012 Written by Three women were discovered in severe condition in the presence of the man presumed to be their abductor. An unknown number of children are missing. Women and children have been rescued in Bhuj and Bengaluru. Aanand, a 21-year-old, married woman who had been missing for two days, was rescued after she was spotted at the spot of a kidnapping case being reported by a local in Rajwada, a suburb of Bhuj. Rajwada police, who initially refused to register the complaint, later said that she had been kidnapped with another woman. The second woman was later rescued by the local police. Three women were discovered in severe condition in the presence of the man presumed to be their abductor. An unknown number of children are missing. Women and children have been rescued in Bhuj and Bengaluru. However, some officials suspect that all this was staged and the woman was even informed that her husband had left the country. This comes as a shock to the families who have lost their loved ones, and also the Jhirad Valley, the majority of whom have witnessed at least two such cases in their vicinity. In one of the cases, three children and the man who was kidnapped were rescued. In the other, four children, a young woman and her in-laws were abducted. The children were rescued after a group of young men and women, at least 10 in all, held them captive at a house in Rahjavalli, a town in Jhirad Valley. The couple were rescued by the police at the spot. Officials are now investigating the possibility that the Bhuj kidnapping case may also be staged. At least two such cases have been reported in a single month in Rajwada and Sahari villages in Jhirad Valley. A woman in her mid-20s was kidnapped in the Rajwada suburb at about 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday. Her husband came to the village and filed a complaint with the Rajwada police station. They were then approached 1d6a3396d6

Estate Planning Estate Planning Retirement is one of the best times of your life, but it can also be one of the most stressful. A long life with a healthy lifestyle can have a lot of expenses, but it's important to have a plan. One of the most important decisions you can make is when you should begin planning for retirement. Here are some tips for staying on track with your retirement plan: Stay on Top of Your Retirement Plan Think about when you will retire. Based on your age, you should plan to retire sometime between the ages of 55 and 70. Do not plan on retiring before the age of 65 because you could run into financial difficulties. Don't be too early or too late to plan for retirement. If you are planning to retire at 55, you should be working on your retirement plan even earlier. If you start thinking about retirement too late, you will have no motivation to do anything to save for retirement. Start working on your retirement plan in high school or early in your career. Think about your priorities. There are a lot of expenses that can come with retirement. It's important to think about what you want to spend your money on and how much you will need to spend on it. If you start saving, take an age-appropriate approach to saving. For example, at 35, if you are saving $1,000 per month, that is how much you should save. After that, save $2,000 a month. At age 55, you would save $2,500 per month. If you are saving for retirement, you can use a 401(k), 403(b), Roth, or a traditional IRA to save money. By using an IRA, you will be able to deduct the money you spend to save for retirement on your federal income tax return. Seek Professional Help Once you are on your way to retirement, it is important to seek out professional help to stay on track. You should talk to a financial advisor to help you make decisions about when to retire and how

Add your name, contact information, and any additional information that you want to convey to employers with ease. Personal Profile Professional Resume Template If you're new to the career field, or if you haven't been on the job market in a while, there's a good chance that you need to make your resume more appealing to employers. You may be considering adding your own unique touch to the resume or using a professionally designed resume template. Whatever the case may be, let's take a look at how you can make your resume stand out from the crowd. Professional Resume Template: A Perfect Solution for Uniqueness While most people are looking to use a professionally designed template to make their resume look professional and appealing, many people are opting to incorporate their own unique and individual touch to their resume. For people that want to stand out from the crowd, you should consider using a professional resume template. A professional resume template is a great choice if you want to make your resume more appealing to employers. Think about it; if you go with a professionally designed resume template, you will have a better chance of making your resume stand out from the crowd. In this way, your resume will be more likely to be read by an employer. You can take advantage of the many professionally designed templates that are available online. If you are having a hard time deciding between a professionally designed resume template and one that you create yourself, you can use our interactive resume builder to help you decide. The resume builder will walk you through the process of creating a resume that is tailored to your individual needs. In addition to the many professionally designed resume templates that are available online, you can also use the built-in resume samples in Microsoft Word to help you write your resume. Professional Resume Template: What to Consider Before Using a Professional Resume Template It is common for people to use a professional resume template as a means of creating a professionally-looking resume. However, there are several things that you need to take into consideration before using a professionally designed template. Make Sure Your Experience is Accurate You need to make sure that the experience you include on your resume is accurate. In some cases, there may be a difference between what you have stated on your resume and what employers are actually looking for. For instance, a resume may include a list of duties and responsibilities without including the amount of time spent on each task. If your resume contains inaccurate information, employers may not be able to make an informed decision on whether or not they should interview
