Compassion is an intuitive software dynamics engine that can be used for any dynamic processing of any signal, be it a vocalist, a solo instrument, a rhythm or a lead instrument. That means that you can use it to process e.g. a vocalist, a drum solo, a solo instrument, a rhythm section, a lead instrument, any instrument playing one of the supported styles such as rock, jazz, pop, world or any other musical style. That also means that you can create a full combo on dynamics using Compassion and then bring your entire work into a mixer as one mono track. With Compassion you can manipulate up to 16 "sources". This allows you to split up your audio to different types of sources, e.g. your vocals and your drums, and adjust the processing for every source independently. Every source has up to 3 capabilities:

- Insert - Mainly for correcting the levels of the audio, for the level balancing of all kinds of sounds and instruments.
- Compressor - For adjusting the dynamics of the audio.
- EQ - For modifying the frequency spectrum of the audio.
- Delay - For adding time effects and time shifting of the audio.
- Reverb - For adding room effects to the audio.
- Limiter - For setting a limit on the amplitude of the audio.
- Chorus - For adding stereo effects and envelopes.
- Gate - For soft clipping the audio.

Compassion also offers an effects chain and a delay chain with reverb and delay. You can even use both chains together with delay/reverb. Each effect can be used on its own. For instance, you can use an effect like the highpass filter on the compressor. You can even use both together. Both effects work independent from each other.

Compassion Features:

- Create your own dynamics in a very intuitive way.
- The user interface will guide you through the dynamics processing in a user friendly way.
