the first of two episodes from this evening, welcome to Epilepsy Cast where we talk about the power of sugar in Epilepsy, on Pemberton Place. We talk to Samantha Wood from Pemberton Place - a welfare centre in Liverpool that supports people with epilepsy. Samantha tells us about their work with children and young people and what the people who use the centre find helps them to cope with seizures. Among other things, they talk about when a loved one is admitted to hospital; about the day to day care to support the families of children and young people with epilepsy and about why they are so important to Pemberton Place. Please turn on post notification listen below or hit the BBC sound icon on your device. Get in touch via EpilepsyCast@bbc.co.uk or +44(0) 7525 837686. Help to keep Epilepsy Cast running - all donations very welcome. Any donation will go a long way, especially as you can support EpilepsyCast with just £3 - £4 a week.Q: How to pass the user location in today Extension iOS? I want to ask that how can I pass the user location in today Extension. From the apple's documentation I found that I will get the user location even after launch of the extension so please suggest if I am correct and how to get the user location. Thanks in advance. A: You must call "startMonitoringSignificantLocationChanges" to get location in your Extension, not just in Extension's init. It will be called after 1 seconds when system starts tracking location. Please read good doc. San Francisco—Freedom of expression is essential to democracy and should not be hampered by Internet platforms or their users—that's the message of a new open letter to the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN), the nonprofit that oversees Internet protocol addresses (IP addresses), names, and other Internet issues. The letter, launched today at a press conference organized by the Electronic Frontier Foundation, claims that ICANN's corporate mission to "promote stability, security, and a high performance, open global Internet" does not allow ICANN to
